

Privacy statement Petfoodie

Introduction

This is the privacy statement of Petfoodie, a brand of Q-Petfood B.V. Q-Petfood produces natural pet food for dogs and cats that is marketed under the Petfoodie brand name. For the purposes of this service, we process personal data of web visitors, (potential) customers and suppliers. We handle this data with care and make sure it is secure. This seems only logical to us. What data we ask for and what we need them for is described in this privacy statement, as well as what your rights are, with whom we share data and how long we keep these data.

Controller

The organisation responsible for the processing of personal data is Q-Petfood B.V. (hereinafter for convenience referred to as Q-Petfood) and all its affiliated companies registered with the Chamber of Commerce under number 84274050 and located at Aaltenseweg 63, 7051 CN in Varsseveld.

What data does Q-Petfood process?

Q-Petfood processes the following categories of personal data:

What does Q- Petfood process personal data for?

Q-Petfood processes your personal data in the context of efficient and effective business operations of Q-Petfood and affiliated brands, in particular in the context of carrying out the following activities:

- The application, conclusion and/or performance of an agreement to supply our products or other related services;
- Maintaining contact with customers regarding the services purchased and their performance;
- Collecting and processing data of customers, leads and prospects for (direct) marketing purposes including informing about other relevant products and/or services of Q-Petfood;
- Complying with legal obligations and retention periods;
- Performing creditor and debtor control;
- Handling queries, complaints and disputes;
- Optimising the operation of online web pages;
- Performing analyses for the purpose of management information, product and service development.
- Determining (general) strategy as well as statistical and scientific purposes.

Foundations for data processing

In order to process personal data, the processing must be based on one of the bases in the privacy legislation (AVG).

Q-Petfood processes personal data:

- To give effect to an agreement- we process certain data to give effect to an agreement with our customers.
- To comply with a legal obligation incumbent on us - for example, based on fiscal legislation, we must keep our financial records for at least 7 years.
- With your permission - we ask permission to approach you with our marketing communications, for example by placing cookies or for sending you our e-mail newsletter.
- Because this is necessary for a legitimate interest of Q-Petfood: this is the case, for example, for analyses for the purpose of efficiency and quality management.

With whom does Q-Petfood share personal data?

Suppliers

Q-Petfood may involve other parties in the performance of its services, for example software suppliers, delivery services or the website administrator. Insofar as these third parties process personal data in the performance of their services, they do so in the capacity of processors for Q-Petfood. We conclude agreements with all processors which guarantee privacy and IT security.

Authorities

Based on a legal obligation or at the request of the courts, this data may also be transferred to authorities (police, tax authorities, etc.).

Transfer outside the European Union

Q-Petfood may share personal data with organisations in Europe, but sometimes also with parties outside the so-called European Economic Area (EEA). If it involves companies outside the EEA, Q-Petfood will only share personal data if its protection is sufficiently guaranteed.

Your rights

Right of access

You have the right at any time and free of charge to inspect your personal data and to be informed about how it is processed. The right to access includes: information that Q-Petfood uses your personal data, what data is involved, for what purpose, to whom data has been provided and its origin (if known).

Right to correct personal data collected

You have the right to request correction of your personal data. The right to correction means that you may ask Q-Petfood to correct, supplement, delete or block personal data. This can be done if the personal data is factually incorrect, incomplete or irrelevant to the purpose for which it was collected, or otherwise used in violation of a law.

Right to oblivion

If it is no longer necessary for Q-Petfood to keep or process your data, you can request to stop (or limit) the processing of personal data or erase all or part of the personal data. We cannot always comply with this request. For example, if you have been a client of ours, the tax authorities require us to keep financial data for 7 years. Also, if you request that we no longer approach you with marketing, we need to remember your data precisely in order to exclude you from our future campaigns. If we do not comply with your request, we will of course give you the reason.

Right to data portability

You can, if you wish, receive data you have provided to us in a machine-readable format, for example because you want to pass it on to another body.

Right to object

Insofar as the processing of personal data is based on the legitimate interests of Q-Petfood (and not on other processing grounds), you have the right to object to the processing of the personal data. For example, you can object to receiving targeted information about our services. If you wish to exercise your rights, please email info@petfoodie.com.

How long does Q-Petfood keep personal data?

Q-Petfood stores personal data for as long as is necessary to provide services to you, is legally permitted or until you withdraw your consent or submit a request to delete your data. We retain financial data for at least 7 years after the close of the financial year.

How does Q-Petfood secure personal data?

Q-Petfood takes appropriate technical and organisational measures to secure personal data against unauthorised access, (inadvertent) destruction or dissemination or any other form of misuse. We use secure connections. Data is always sent encrypted, both to internal and authorised external parties. Within Q-Petfood, personal data is only accessible to employees who are authorised to do so by virtue of their position on the basis of a least privileged principle.

Intellectual property rights

Everything on the websites Q-Petfood.com belongs to us. This applies to texts, logos, illustrations and photos. We created these or the images have appeared on our websites with the consent of the creator or the person depicted. As a visitor, you cannot therefore simply copy, reuse or publish the material on our sites. If you want to do so anyway, please ask us if it is allowed. Send an e-mail to info@petfoodie.com.

Cookie statement

To serve you better and more personally, Q-Petfood uses cookies and similar techniques such as web beacons and fingerprinting on its websites, hereafter we simply say 'cookies'. With these, we and other parties track your internet behaviour within our site(s). And based on browsing behaviour, we show ads that match your interests. We also share cookies with social media parties, so you can follow us, like us and share posts and photos.

General

We place these cookies

- Functional – Necessary for the functioning of the website
- Analysis – For analysis purposes to improve the website
- Affiliate – To measure the effectiveness of advertisements
- Social Media – For the functioning of like buttons
- Marketing – To tailor information and advertisements from us and other parties to your interests. We store your settings in a cookie. If you remove cookies from your browser, your choice cannot be recognised and we ask your permission to use cookies again.

Functional cookies

These are necessary for our website to function. You cannot therefore refuse them. For example, these cookies save your browser settings so that our website can be viewed in the best possible way, or so that the website remains accessible (load-balancing) to recognise your language or country, to see whether you are visiting our website from a PC, tablet or phone and adjust your user experience accordingly, but also cookies that ensure that no other cookies may be placed (no-follow).

Google Analytics

Q-Petfood uses analytical cookies to collect information such as the date and time someone visits our websites and which pages you view on them. Q-Petfood uses this data to improve our websites, to compile 'traffic' statistics (such as the times of day or days of the week when the websites attract the most visitors) and to measure the popularity of the various parts of the site. With these cookies, we measure the effectiveness of the website and the information displayed; we do not measure individual browsing behaviour. Using this information, we try to make the website ever so slightly better. We set these cookies so that they have little impact on privacy. We therefore do not need to ask permission for them. They are placed with every visit.

- Google analytics (`_gat`, `_gid`, `_ga`), : We use these cookies to measure the use of our websites. This cookie is set privacy-friendly.

Storage period: session, 2 years

You can install the 'Google Analytics Opt-out Browser Add-on' to prevent our websites from forwarding information about your visits to Google Analytics.

Hotjar cookies

With Hotjar cookies, Q-Petfood gains better insight into visitor behaviour on the website and we can A/B test certain content. Examples include tracking visitors' click and scroll behaviour and monitoring the dropout during and duration of certain registration processes, such as signing up for our newsletter. Q-Petfood only uses this data in aggregate and cannot trace it back to a computer or individual.

Hotjar cookie: (`_hjAbsoluteSessionInProgress`, `_hjFirstSeen`, `_hjIncludedInPageviewSample`, `_hjIncludedInSessionSample` *, `_hjSessionUser` *, `_hjSession` *) We use the Hotjar (Java) script to gain insight into website usage in order to continuously improve the website. The Hotjar script generates anonymous heatmaps based on mouse clicks and scroll movements, showing how a single page or multiple pages (in a funnel) are used.

Storage period: up to 1 year

Hotjar allows visitors to set so-called 'do not track' signals in the browser.

Social media cookies

Share buttons

On our websites, we sometimes display buttons with links to the social networks Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn, YouTube, Instagram, TikTok and Threads so that you can easily find and share information. These share buttons are not pieces of code from the social media themselves and do not use cookies.

YouTube videos

On our websites, we display videos from YouTube. These videos are pieces of code (embeds) from YouTube itself and use cookies. These cookies also record the number of views of these views of these videos. Q-Petfood has no influence on these cookies and refers for more info to YouTube's privacy guidelines.

Marketing and personalisation cookies

Q-Petfood uses cookies to make our sites more relevant by tailoring content to the interests of our visitors. These types of cookies are also known as tracking cookies. We post expressions through Google and Facebook platforms. This also includes channels such as YouTube, Instagram, TikTok and Threads. Cookies allow us to offer relevant information to people who have already shown interest in our work on other websites or apps. Marketing cookies also allow us to measure and analyse previous usage behaviour.

Facebook Pixel (_fbp): JavaScript code that tracks which pages visitors to Q-Petfood view.

This allows Q-Petfood to measure the use of its website(s) and learn about its target groups. For example, visitors who have previously visited our website may be shown an ad on Facebook. Our ads can also be shown to similar target groups who have not yet visited our website. In addition, conversion can be tracked. Q-Petfood can no longer use the data after 180 days.

Browser settings

If you do not want websites to place cookies on your device with which you view the website, you can adjust your browser settings. Before a cookie is placed, you will receive a warning and must give your consent for the cookie. Failure to do so may result in a reduced website experience. You can adjust your browser settings so that your browser refuses all cookies, including those from third parties. You can also delete placed cookies. To do this, you must adjust the of your browser via preferences and then you can adjust the privacy settings.

Disclaimer

By using the website, you agree to the disclaimer. Q-Petfood reserves the right to change the content of its website and/or this disclaimer at any time without informing its customers and/or users of the website of this change. The content of the website has been compiled with the greatest possible care, but may nevertheless contain possible inaccuracies or be incomplete.
